School-Wide Issues and Concerns

15. When is the principal available? About what should s/he be contacted?

16. When is the school nurse available and what are appropriate reasons for making a referral?

17. Is a counselor available? What types of referrals are appropriate?

18. How can the school or district help with diagnosing or working with students who have severe learning or behavior problems?

19. What janitorial services are available for my room? How do I make requests? What should I do if they’re inadequate?

20. Do I know the bell schedule? Is it posted?

21. Do I have a district and school calendar?

22. What is the procedure for taking roll?

23. What is the procedure for using hall passes?

24. What are all the different pieces of paper that go back and forth between the office, the counselors, the attendance people, the students, and the teachers?
Questions to Consider

In the Classroom

25. Have I determined the class rules, or will I include students in deciding those rules? If so, how?

26. Have I anticipated worst-case management scenarios, and determined what to do in each case?

27. Have I prepared a handout for students and a chart to display rules/consequences, major class procedures and course requirements?

28. How will I document interactions with students and parents?

29. Are aides available, and if so, on what schedule?

30. Do I have keys to my classroom or other rooms I may need access to?

31. Do I have the necessary furniture for my room?

32. How will I arrange student desks?

33. Do I know if any of my students have a handicap that should be accommodated in the room arrangement?

34. What is the normal procedure for the arrival of students in the morning?

35. How do students leave at the end of the day? Do I have any bus riders and do they leave early?

36. Do I have students with special needs? If they leave my classroom during the day, what are their schedules?

37. What is the daily schedule for music, recess, PE, lunch, library, and the computer lab?

38. Where are these rooms, and what procedures should I follow to send or bring students to them?

39. What is the procedure for late arrivals and early dismissals?
Questions to Consider

40. Do I have a substitute-teacher folder prepared, in case I am ill? Does it include class procedures and requirements, a seating chart, and emergency lessons?

Assignments

41. Where and how will I post assignments?

42. What will be my standards for form and neatness (pencil, pen, type of paper, heading, due dates, erasures)?

43. How will students who return from being absent know what to make up?

44. Will I post a generic list of activities for students who finish early?

Monitoring Progress

45. Will I look at students’ test scores and reports from previous years?

46. What will be the consequences of late or incomplete work?

47. What procedures will I use to monitor work in progress?

48. When and how will I monitor projects or longer assignments?

49. How will I collect completed assignments?

50. What records of student work will I retain?

51. Will I use a gradebook, a computer grade program, or both?

52. Will I use a computer grading system that has internet access, so that students and parents can type in a password to see their grades on-line?
Questions to Consider

53. How will I easily add or delete student names in the first weeks, as enrollment changes?
   Suggestion: use a photocopy of the first two or three weeks of the gradebook, and then transfer the grades to the actual book once the class roster is more stable.

54. Will I assign numbers for my students, to help collate homework and enter grades?

Feedback

56. Will behavior and/or class participation count toward student grades?

57. What kinds of feedback will I provide, and when?
   Will I set up regular times to conference with students?

58. What procedure will I follow to send materials home to parents?

59. Where will I display student work?

60. What records of their own work, if any, will students maintain?

61. How will I handle grading disputes with students?
   With parents?

Supplies and Materials

62. What are the procedures for obtaining classroom books?

63. How do I check them out to students?

64. Where do I get daily supplies: markers, paper, pencils, staples, transparencies?

65. Do I get money to spend on supplies for my room?
Questions to Consider

66. Are audio-visual materials available? How do I check them out?

67. What software and hardware do I need to set up for computer use?

68. What are the policies and procedures for making copies?

The First Days

69. Have I prepared a letter home to parents to introduce me and what I teach?

70. What is the required paperwork for the first day of school, including attendance, school announcements, and the lunch program?

71. Are my lesson plans prepared for the first few days for each class? Am I prepared with extra ones in case things go faster than I planned?

72. What warm-up activities will I use?

73. Have I prepared short activities—“time fillers”—to use in case my lesson ends early?

74. What is the special procedure for the arrival of students on the first day of school?

75. What special assemblies or schedules are there in the first week?

76. Do I have a class roster?

77. Will I use a seating chart?
